

Minimum Qualification Requirements for the

TELEVISION TECHNICIAN SERIES

Experience Requirement:

Applicants must possess progressively responsible work experience of the types and in the quantities described in the paragraphs below.

Television Technician I: Six years of progressively responsible work experience in the repair and maintenance of black and white television sets, two years of which must have been at the journeyman or independent worker level performing such duties as using test instruments to diagnose trouble, changing tubes, transistors, resistors, and other components and repairing circuits.

Television Technician II: In addition to the experience required at the I level, applicants must also possess one year of progressively responsible work experience at the journeyman level in the repair and maintenance of color television sets.

Substitution of Education for Experience: Completion of an electronics or a television and radio repair course at an accredited technical school or community college may be substituted for non-journeyman level experience on a year-for-year basis up to a maximum of two years.

Quality of Experience:

Possession of the required amount of experience will not in itself be accepted as proof of qualification for a position. The applicant's overall experience must have been of such scope and level of responsibility as to conclusively demonstrate that he has the ability to perform the duties of the position for which he is being considered.

Driver's License:

Possession of a Hawaii State motor vehicle operator's license is required for most positions.

Tests:

For competitive examinations, all applicants must qualify on an appropriate examination for the class. For noncompetitive actions, the examination may be waived.

Physical Requirements:

Applicants must be physically able to perform efficiently the duties of the position, which are described elsewhere in this specification. Applicants must be able to read without strain printed material the size of typewritten characters, glasses permitted. For certain positions, the ability to distinguish colors is essential. A person with an amputation of hand or arm should not apply. Any physical condition which would cause the applicant to be a hazard to himself or to others will disqualify for appointment. In addition, applicants must possess emotional and mental stability.

A person with a handicap will be considered upon demonstration of ability to perform the required tasks or have the ability or means to compensate for his handicap sufficiently to perform the job.
